MISCELLANEOUS READING

It is a great folly to sadden, the present. in looking back upon the past, as though it had been darkened by no shadow of a cloud. The sorrows which nature sends us in infancy resemble Spring showers, the traces of which are effaced by a passing breeze. The pains and alarms of each age have been chiefly the work of man. The beautiful age, for a frivolous being, is youth; for the ambitious, maturity; for the recluse, old age; for a reasonable man, every age. Heaven has reserved peculiar pleasures for each.

A CAUTIOUS JUDGE .- An Irish judge tried two most notorious fellows for highway robbery. To the astonishment of the court, as well as of the prisoners themselves they were not found guilty. As they were being removed from the bar the judge, addressing the jailor, said: "Mr. Murphy, you would greatly ease my mind if you would keep these two respectable gentlemen until seven or half-past seven o'clock, for I mean to start for Dublin at five, and I should like to have at least two hours start of them.

INGENIOUS ORDER.-A volunteer rifle captain, desiring to cross a field with his company, came to an opening in the fence large enough to admit two persons, but no more, to pass abreast. Unfortunately he could not remember the words of command which would have acomplished the difficult task of filing through; but his ingenuity did not desert him, and, therefore, he ordered a halt and then said, "Gentlemen, you are dismissed for one minute, when you will fall in on

A home for aged men is a new notion just originated in Boston, and which will soon be practically realized, as $10,000 have been subscribed in a few days, out of $30,000 needed. The institution is intended for such aged men born in Boston whom the reverses of business or loss of means of support have thrown upon the charity of strangers, or the care of impoverished relations. A similar project is much talked of among the philanthropists of Baltimore.

NEWSPAPERS .- Many people like newspapers, but few preserve them; yet the most interesting reading imaginable is a file of old newspapers. It brings up the past age with all its bustle and every day affairs, and marks its genius and its spirit more than the most labored description of the historian .-Who can take up a paper half a century back, without the thought that almost every name there printed is now cut upon a tombstone at the head of an epitaph?
